

SAHRIS OBJECT PDF REPORT

Object Code: 83/107

Quantity: 1.00

Cultural Association:

Maker:

Production Place:

Description:

Hewitt's airway was the first known oral airway and laid the foundations for the numerous other airways that were later developed. Oral airways made anaesthesia safer and significantly reduced the trauma associated with earlier attempts at managing the obstructed airway.

Provenance:

Cape Medical Museum