

SAHRIS OBJECT PDF REPORT

Object Code: 84/250

Quantity: 1.00

Cultural Association:

Maker:

Production Place:

Description:

An antrum punch is a commonly used tool in sinus procedures. The forceps are designed for cutting and dissecting tissue within the nasal cavity and near the bony opening of the sinus, c. 1940.

Provenance:

Cape Medical Museum