Description:

Melkbosstrand, 75 Mostert Rd., currently under excavation by L. Hutten:

These human remains have been unearthed during the past few weeks, with more human remains possible. The contexts and material remains suggest that all are Later Stone Age, but that they were interred in multiple events. I have prepared an osteological report for Ms. Hutten to include in her report to the HWC.

For dating and analysis:

Mostert 75, G8 + H8:

A relatively complete skeleton of a young-mid adult male, rather large for the LSA. The sample is the anterior portion of the left sixth rib.
